WHAT'S NEXT?

Dear Friends,

In two years Bishop Matthew Clark will have to submit his resignation to Rome as he reaches his 75th birthday. So what will happen next?

Well, Pope Benedict will then have to decide if he will accept the resignation immediately or not. For example, when Bishop Moynihan of Syracuse turned 75 Pope Benedict did not name a successor for two additional years. But whenever he does choose it is most likely that the next bishop of Rochester will be much more traditional (i.e. conservative) than Matthew Clark. In almost all of his recent appointments Pope Benedict has chosen those who will be much more compliant with the imperial papacy of the 21st century. For some time now Rome has held loyalty to the Holy See as the highest value one should seek in an Episcopal candidate. Pope Benedict is taking the path of John Paul II to new heights (lows?) when it comes to affirming new church leadership.

In many ways Bishop Clark has been an outstanding shepherd. His own inner vision of the church and pastoral ministry places him in the top ten percent of the American hierarchy. In the first half of his tenure he did as much for the role of women in the church as just about any bishop in the country. His outreach to gays and lesbians was dignified and compassionate. He affirmed lay leadership and continued much of the great work begun by Bishop Joseph Hogan. The turning point in Bishop Clark's life among us was the debacle at Corpus Christi Church in Rochester. Forced by Rome (especially then Cardinal Ratzinger) to discipline Fr. Jim Callan and his staff/congregation, Bishop Clark has never really recovered. He faithfully carried out orders from Rome even though his heart was not in it. His time since has been primarily trying to serve as a "buffer" between healthy ministries and papal oversight.

Whatever Rome decides, we all have a decision to make as well. In the early church local communities – including the laity – elected their own bishops. While we may not have the opportunity to cast a ballot there are lots of ways to take the measure of a nominated candidate. We should all be well prepared to do so.

Shalom,

Fr. Dennis

These projects evangelize, nourish the faithful, foster community and grant easy, direct access to thousands of Catholic resources. Help connect the world with God's Word!

Grocery Bags will be handed out this weekend after all Masses. Please return the bags next weekend. All groceries will be for the Cayuga/Seneca Community Action Agency food pantry. Thank you.

Vacation Bible School: "High Seas Expedition" for children in grades K through 6, sponsored by the Auburn Catholic parishes, August 2 through 6, 9 am to noon at St. Hyacinth Parish Center. Daily Bible stories, activities, crafts and snacks.

Register by July 15 for $15 per child. 7th & 8th graders and high school helpers needed for the week. Parent volunteers needed to help plan and organize. Registration forms are at church entrances. Please call or email Nancy Smith for more information.

Baccalaureate Recognition: To honor all Holy Family graduates, we are planning a prayer for graduates at Masses the weekend of June 26 & 27 and a congratulatory bulletin announcement listing all parishioners who are graduating this year, including eighth grade and high school graduates, and recipients of degrees for college and post-graduate work. Please call the parish office (or send in the information via mail, collection basket or email: nwsmith@dor.org) by June 15 with the name of the graduate, school, and degree, if applicable.

Our Young People's News: Mark Trupiano with the Stardust Foundation's Blueprint II Water Quality Group developed and organized a day of environmental education and action at the Owasco Flats Nature Reserve. The group and the volunteers they recruited planted trees and shrubs to help filter water at the south end of the lake and to prevent erosion at the north end.

Congratulations to Suzanne Smith who graduated magna cum laude and won the Honors Study award at the Cayuga Community College commencement ceremony on May 23.

Congratulations on being named to the honor rolls of your schools: Thomas Alfieri, Jonathan Bell, Anna Bianco, Emma Bianco, Francesca Bolak, Kyle Boyd, Regan Boyd, John Collins, Aaron Daloia, Dominic Delaney, Mark Delaney, Chelsea Franczek, Morgan Gilmore, Adrian LaManna, Alexis Liberatore, Jessica Maltese, Leanne Maltese, Thomas Miller, Brittany Spinelli and Mark Trupiano.

Aaron, his family and the East Middle team thank everyone in the community for their encouragement, prayers and financial support.

The following was received from Rev. Robert C. Bradler, Diocesan Director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith: "Holy Family parishioners have certainly gone beyond with their love and compassion for God's people by their generous gift of $1775.00 for the Diocesan Mission collection to help the Sisters of St. Joseph and Sisters of Mercy in touching the lives of the people in Brazil and Chile. Thank you for your great response."

The Annual Parish Picnic Will Be Here Before We Know It.
